thINKingDANCE Partners with Cannonball Festival 2022

by Miryam Coppersmith

This year, Cannonball Festival and thINKingDANCE join forces to encourage audiences and performers to deepen their experience of the festival through writing. thINKingDANCE will lead a pre-festival workshop for Cannonball artists, introducing them to the tools and techniques of critical writing. These artists will then write responses to each other's work throughout the course of the festival (stay tuned on the Cannonball website to read them).

Audience members can join thINKingDANCE after selected Cannonball performances for a "Write Back Atcha!" a post-show talk-back and mini-writing workshop. A writer from thINKingDANCE will guide you through an exploration of language you can use to respond to performance, and you'll have an opportunity to see your words published in a crowd-sourced review, which will go up here on thinkingdance.net.
